Contemporary Jewellery & Gifts.

Claire Troughton is rapidly becoming known as one of the UK's most talented jewellery designers, with a particular art in interpreting nature's own creativity.

Claire's work captures the beauty that surrounds us, taking inspiration from fragile organic forms such as leaves, seed pods and shells. Her jewellery embraces a perfect balance between the character of the original form and the need for it to be wearable and practical.

Designs are created in silver, 9ct gold, 18ct gold and platinum.

The exclusive work shown on her site offers a collection of simple pieces to be worn everyday, plus some more elaborate items for special occasions.

Each item has been carefully designed and made in Claire's workshop in England, using the highest quality materials and the greatest care to ensure perfection.

Claire's signature collection can be found under the 'curled leaf' heading while the newest collection featured is 'Golden Flower' inspired by dandelion flowers and dandelion clocks.

Claire has many admirers of her work and the James Bond actress, Samantha Bond (Miss Money Penny) was seen wearing the Laurus drop earrings in a BBC drama in 2005.
